

10 THINGS ENTREPRENEURS AND STARTUPS CAN LEARN FROM SILICON VALLEY

KNOW YOUR INVESTOR

1. CHOOSE YOUR INVESTOR WISELY

Good investors are key. Pick those who care about your company and vision, not just the perks, gifts, and parties they offer.

meri koi expertise nahi hai... I'm out...

BUILD RELATIONS

2. MAINTAIN PROFESSIONAL RELATIONSHIPS

All relationships matter. Don't burn the bridges; you might need those connections later.

EARLY CELEBRATION

3. DON'T CELEBRATE TOO SOON

No deal is closed until it's in writing. Be cautious of last-minute changes and hidden agendas.

RESOURCEFULNESS

4. BE RESOURCEFUL

Start small. Many great companies began in garages. Use what you have and make it work. Just ensure your old, crazy, ferret-raising neighbor doesn't report you.

COMPARISON

5. DON'T COMPARE SALARIES

Keep compensation details private. Comparing salaries can create unnecessary stress and competition, two things that are toxic to any small company.

HEALTH

6. TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF

Your health matters. Sleep, nutrition, and mental wellness are crucial for success. It's important to look after your own personal and mental state.

EAT. SLEEP. WORK. REPEAT

QUALITY & SWOT

7. QUALITY FIRST

Ensure your product is ready before launching.
Quality trumps speed.

8. SWOT ANALYSIS

Use SWOT (Strengths Weaknesses Opportunities Threats) to make informed decisions about equity, hiring, and acquisitions.

CONTRACTS

9. READ THOSE CONTRACTS

Always perform due diligence. Understand every detail to avoid legal pitfalls.
